

ABBREVIATIONS FOR JOURNALS AND SERIES

Introduction

THE following lists JEA preferred styles for journals and series, as well as for some standard reference items. Where commensurate with current JEA style the list has been correlated with precedent in previous *JEA*s, as well as practice found in other Egyptological journals and bibliographical and library resources. This list is not intended to be comprehensive, merely representative, and will be revised regularly.

Journal titles are styled as main titles and are set in italic. Abbreviation is used for all standard Egyptological journals. Journals from kindred fields, such as the Ancient Near East or Ancient Northern Africa can be abbreviated regularly. Journals from disciplines unlikely to be widely familiar or readily accessible should be written out in full, e.g. Journal of the American Institute of Conservation. In some cases, e.g. journals dealing more broadly with African archaeology, either abbreviation or full writing may be suitable, e.g. the African Archaeological Review, which may also be abbreviated AAR. Such options are noted. In cases of regular citation, full first title followed by abbreviated title on subsequent citations may suit.

Series information is included in bibliographical matter within parenthesis set in plain text. Series information is supplementary to the principal bibliographical components of author and title and is presented succinctly. Abbreviation should be used regularly, excepting cases unlikely to be familiar to the field or not readily accessible.

The conventions adopted for abbreviation are practical (and thus are not intended to be completely uniform), The following are adopted as guidelines:

1. Where practicable or without leading to ambiguity, abbreviations for journal or series titles composed of three or more words reduce major components by initialism (so JEA for the Journal of Egyptian Archaeology). In potentially ambiguous cases one or more of the components may be treated in full or in abbreviation.
2. Styling for journal or series titles composed of two words divides on a practical basis. Established or recognisable initialisms are preferred (so ÄA for the series Ägyptologische Abhandlungen and not the alternates AegAb or AegAbhand), whereas in other cases styling may be by formal abbreviation (that is, by sequence of initial letters from the various components) without any additional punctuation or spacing between or at the end of elements (e.g. LingAeg for Lingua Aegyptia). Abbreviation is used particularly for potentially ambiguous items and/or where this styling is in general use or is originator preferred style (e.g. AegLeod).

3. Abbreviations as used by the originator are preferred when commensurate with JEA style (so PdÄ and not PÄ).
4. Additional or separable components (in full or abbreviated by initialism, contraction or formal abbreviation) are positioned after a single space (e.g. EES EM).
5. Single word main titles, such as Orientalia and Antiquity are not abbreviated.
6. French diacritics are not retained in capitalized abbreviations (so RdE and not RdÉ), whereas German umlauts are retained (so ÄA). In the listings of full title, full capitalization style is used throughout.
7. Abbreviations exclude punctuation.

Note

This edition has been prepared with a specific focus on the production of JEA 93 (2007) through to JEA 95 (2009). It is not a compendium of existing listings, although such listings have been consulted and a number of standard items have been incorporated from such lists. In addition, work on providing background information is far from complete and has not been fully checked, but it is necessary to provide contributors and readers with a working version of JEA AJS. The editors thus recognise that this is a work in progress and welcome corrections or additions, particularly from editors or publishers of journals or series.
